

Abstract

In a method for machining materials by combining a machining tool with at least one additional machining tool, wherein at least one machining tool employ laser radiation, a synchronized modulation of the first machining tool in the combination with the also pulse-modulated additional machining tool is carried out.

(Fig. 1)